THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

A National Convention of the Republican party will meet at Chicago, Wednesday, the 24 day of June next, for the nomination of candidates to be supported for President and Vice President at the next election.

Republicans, and all who will co-operate with them in supporting the nominee of the party, are invited to choose two delegates from each Congressional District, four at large from each State, two from each Territory, and two from the District of Columbia, to represent them in the Convention.

J. D. CAMERON, Chairman.
THOMAS B. KEOGH, Secretary.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

ROOMS OF THE
REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION,
MILWAUKEE, FEBRUARY 13, 1880.

A State Convention of delegates representing the Republican party of Wisconsin, and of all who will co-operate with them in supporting the Nominee of the party, is hereby called to meet at the Capitol in Madison, at twelve o'clock P. M., on Wednesday, May 5th, 1880, for the purpose of placing in nomination an electoral ticket of ten electors to be supported by the party at the next Presidential election, and also to select twenty delegates, (two from each Congressional District, and four from the State at large,) to represent the Republican party of Wisconsin in the National Republican Convention, which is called to meet at Chicago on the 24 day of June, A. D. 1880, and to transact such other business as may be deemed necessary.

Each Senate and Assembly District is entitled to two delegates in the Convention.

It will cost $7,500 to furnish stationery for the Legislature of 1881.

There is no boom to break the monotonous note that exists in the Democratic party.

The Chicago Convention will sign the death-warrant of the Democratic candidate for President.

Thirty States and the Union differ with Senators Burrows and Anderson regarding the economy of Biennial Sessions.

It costs all it is worth to belong to the Imperial family of Russia. Every member of it stands in constant fear of being blown to atoms.

It is becoming more and more evident that the Democrats can nominate no candidate who will inspire the party with hope of success.

Parnell still continues to make speeches and get up quarrels. He is sure to get into difficulty with those who want to help suffering Ireland as much as he.

It will be in order for Mr. S. S. Cox, the Democratic humorist of the House, to write a book after the Democratic Convention, entitled "Why We Don't Laugh."

As a one-sided affair, the report against Biennial Sessions, is No. 1. The Committee steered clear of the facts which would most interest the public and show that Biennial Sessions are not a failure.

Judge David Davis once got off the fence and ate hanks with the Democrats. When he saw in the Chicago Times about the necessity of the Democrats getting an independent man for a candidate, he immediately mounted the fence again.

It would be better if the Madison influence would withdraw objections to the Biennial Sessions resolution being adopted, and then fight the question when it gets before the people. That is the time to oppose the measure, and not now.

Mathematics seem to have got the advantage of the Election Committee in the House. When it undertook to show how Washburn, of Minnesota, wasn't elected when he received a clear majority of 3,000, the common rules of arithmetic bothered the Committee so much that many Democratic members became disgusted with the figuring. It will push the Democrats pretty hard to show in plain figures why a man who has 3,000 majority is not entitled to a seat in Congress.

The new Refunding Bill agreed upon by the Committee on Ways and Means provides for the issuing of 500 millions of bonds drawing 3½ per cent interest, redeemable at the pleasure of the Government after twenty years, and payable in forty years from the date of issue; and 200 millions of notes drawing 3½ per cent interest, redeemable at the pleasure of the Government after two years and payable in ten years from the date of issue, but not more than 40 millions shall be redeemed in any one fiscal year.

The Madison Democrat considers that the report of the Committee on State Affairs regarding Biennial Sessions, is a good Democratic document because it shows that in Indiana, the rate of taxation is lower than in some States that have Republican governments. The report also shows Missouri, a Democratic State, and an old State, the rate of taxation is more than twice as high as in Wisconsin and some other Republican States. When the report shows this, will the Democrat claim that it is a good Republican document?

The Milwaukee Sentinel is authority for the statement that "the North Chicago Rolling Mill Company will turn out about 3000 tons of rails this month at Bay View.
The new addition to this company, styled The North Chicago Steel Company, have purchased from the Chicago & Calumet Canal and Dock Company, seventy acres of land in Chicago. Work will at once be begun on the construction of vast iron and steel rail works, which will cost $2,000,000 when completed, which will be in about eighteen months. This mammoth mill will give employment to 3000 men."

The Rev. Edward Cowley, who has been for some time manager of the Shepherd's Fold, in New York, and who was charged with starving and cruelly treating little orphan children, has been found guilty by the jury. He was taken to the Tombs and on Saturday will be sentenced. There is something strange connected with the career of this man Cowley who had such an important charge in New York. Before he became connected with the Shepherd's Fold, he had been twice dismissed from the direction of charitable institutions on the ground of his scandalous unfitness, and, besides that had been very severely censured in the official report of a State investigating board.
He was hard-hearted, cruel, and dishonest.
Yet he managed to organize another corporation, by whose help he kept a house full of wretched little children in his custody until he was arrested for cruelty. He was wretchedly cold-hearted toward the children placed under his care, and for the sake of gain, would starve them, and to satisfy his temper, would inhumanly punish them. This state of things had existed for some time, but at last his conduct became too notorious, and his villainies too well known to prevent his arrest. The charges against him have been proven, and it is hoped that his punishment will be equal to his crimes, if that be possible. The trust es of the Shepherd's Fold, who certainly were acquainted with Cowley's character, and should have been acquainted with his past record, deserve public execration for permitting him to have anything to do with so sacred a trust, as the management of the Fold. The wrong they committed was deliberate and malicious and they are equally guilty with Cowley.

BILLS TO OPRESS THE NORTH-WESTERN LIFE INSURANCE COM-PANY.

There are two bills before the Legislature—253 S., and 241 A., which should be killed without ceremony. They are a dishonor to the State, and should not have the least show of a passage. These bills propose to amend the law of 1878, and compel the Northwestern Life Insurance Company to pay a tax of five per cent. Instead of two, upon the amount received for premiums in this State. Before 1878, the Company paid a tax of one per cent. beside the license fee of $300. The act of that year increased the tax to two per cent, and now, but on what ground the framers of the bills can not explain, an attempt is made to impose the enormous tax of five per cent. upon the income of a benevolent and cooperative institution, whose fund is a sacred trust fund, and which demands the protection and fostering care of the State.
To lay such a crushing burden upon a Life Company, especially one in our own State, the largest life organization in the West, and one of which every citizen of Wisconsin should not feel proud, would not only be an outrage to the Company, but it would be a wrong to those who are compelled to take out insurance for the benefit of their families. To show how unjust the provisions of these bills are, the following facts are submitted:

Some twenty life companies chartered by other States are now doing business in this State. Nearly one million of dollars are paid in premiums by the people of Wisconsin annually for life insurance, and more than two-thirds of this sum is paid to the companies of other States and sent out of Wisconsin. These twenty companies are each charged a license fee of $300 annually that they may be permitted to do two-thirds or more of the life insurance business of the State. The Northwestern, though chartered by the laws of Wisconsin, does less than one-third of such business in Wisconsin, and yet this Company is obliged to pay an amount equal to that paid by all others combined, in the way of license and taxes. The Company, under the law of 1878, is compelled to pay two per cent annually on its premium receipts in this State, as well as the taxes assessed upon all real estate held by it.

It is plain to be seen wherein these bills seek to impose oppressive and unjust burdens on the Northwestern Mutual Life Company. Wisconsin should be generous toward this noble and beneficent institution. It should be as proud of it and as generous toward it, as other States are toward the great companies in the East. Wisconsin can afford to be as liberal to the Northwestern, as New York is to the Mutual Life, and Connecticut is to the Connecticut Mutual. These States take pride in fostering and protecting their insurance companies, and they are to be honored for so doing; and it is strange that in all Wisconsin a man can be found of intelligence who will seek to oppress and cripple such an institution as the Northwestern, or any other well-managed and safe life company.

It will not do for the Legislature to lay the hand of oppression upon this Company, or any other company of the kind. It is a poor policy to drive our own companies to the wall, and permit other companies to take the field and capture all the business.
If this is the policy to be adopted, one of two things will be the result: The Northwestern will be compelled to increase its rates, which will give other companies the advantage; or it must do business at a loss, which will reduce the dividends to the policy holders in Wisconsin. We trust there will be found good sense enough in the Legislature to kill these bills. They are unjust and should not be allowed to prevail.

CONVICTED.

Reverend Cowley Convicted of Inhuman Treatment of Orphans—Attempt to Lynch the Prisoner.

New York, Feb. 18.—The Rev. Edward Cowley, who for the past eight days has been on trial in the Court of General Sessions for alleged ill-treatment of the little child, Louis Victor, while under his care in the Shepherd's Fold, was this morning found guilty. The largest crowd that has ever attended a trial in this court literally packed the room, and the passages were so blocked up by the living mass as to render egress or ingress a matter of almost impossibility. A number of ladies were also present, and Mrs. Cowley sat at her husband's side during the proceedings, and the Shepherd, although deeply pale, appeared calm and self-possessed.

Shortly after 11 o'clock Recorder Smythe took his seat on the bench, when silence immediately fell upon the court room, and he delivered his charge to the jury. It was short, and rather adverse to the clerical defendant. The jury retired at 12 o'clock and returned in about a quarter of an hour with a verdict of guilty of the offense charged. The foreman of the jury had barely closed his lips on the word "guilty," when a scene followed such as has never before been witnessed in a court of law. Shout upon shout rent the foul air of the overbearing room, and the stamping of a thousand feet raised a perfect storm of dust, while the ladies clapped their gloved hands and waved their handkerchiefs at District Attorney Paelps, the lion of the hour. The court officers, seeing how utterly useless an attempt to restore order would be, allowed the excited crowd to have its own way for a good ten minutes; but suddenly, when it surged forward in a threatening manner to get at the prisoner, on whom it was only too anxious to carry out the severest punishment, they rallied and surrounded the crestfallen Shepherd, over whose face large tears were coursing, and saved him from being torn to pieces by the angry mob.
When at last quiet was restored, the presider's counsel applied to the court for an arrest of judgment, pending a motion for a new trial, but the District Attorney moved for sentence. The Recorder, however, remanded the prisoner until Friday next, when sentence will be pronounced. The extra penalty is a year in prison and $250 fine.
An extra force of police officers, who had been sent for, quickly emptied the court room, allowing no one to remain, in it while Cowley was being removed, under a strong escort, by which he was afterward taken to the Tombs and safely lodged in his cell.

DEMOCRATIC TRICKERY

Displayed in Trying to Figure the Minnesota Washburn Out of His Seat.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The Democrats of the Committee on Elections will have to make up another set of election returns from Minnesota if they succeed in turning Washburn out, because the present arrangement by which they dispose of Washburn's 3,000 majority is not acceptable to Speaker (G.), Clark (N. J.), and Pastor (Ky.), as it is not believed that either of these gentlemen will vote to turn Washburn out for reasons that have been advanced by Springer and other Democrats. For instance, it numbered ballots are thrown out by Pastor's vote, he evades his title to his own seat, and neither Speaker nor Clark have been yet able to convince themselves that the manner in which the rest of Wash-burn's majority has been disposed of is a legitimate one. Somebody has been sending Donnelly's record down here to the Greenbackers, all of whom he has claimed would vote for him, but it is not at all likely that more than two or three of them will vote against Washburn, now that they have found out who Donnelly is, and Weaver, Greenbacker, on the Election Committee, will, without doubt, indorse Washburn's title.

A STRANGE SUICIDE.

Dubuque, Feb. 18.—F. H. Bowen, a newspaper writer of fine ability and well known throughout the State, committed suicide at his residence in Sand Springs, Delaware County, last night. He was partially ill-sane, the result of financial losses and ill-health. The manner of his death was peculiar. He was restless, and asked his wife for some morphine that he might superinduce sleep. Having had reason to surmise that he was intent on self-destruction, she refused. He then asked for a pail of water that he might bathe his feet before retiring. This was supplied him, and the wife retired to her own chamber, leaving him alone. This morning in opening his room door she was surprised and horrified to find him dead. He had taken the pail of water and placed it underneath the side rail of the bedstead, then rolled back the tick. He removed two of the cross slats of the bed, climbed upon the bedstead, thrust his head through the aperture into the pail of water, and was discovered in this position. The cause of death was so patent that no inquest was held.

CAUGHT A TARTAR.

seem determined not to allow Republican witnesses to get summoned before the Exodus Committee, but to-day they caught a Tartar in one of their own witnesses.
Badger, son of ex-Senator Badger, of North Carolina. He was summoned by the Democrats and is opposed to the Exodus.
During his examination he made some remarks as to Ku-Klux outrages in North Carolina, which led Senator Windom, who cross-examined him, to question him very closely on that subject. The witness said that the negroes did not get equal justice in the courts, and that they were discriminated against. When asked about the Ku Klux outrages, he said that he was appointed by the government a few years ago to investigate them, and he knew all about them.
He said there were hundreds of cases of whipping, shooting, and murders of every kind. The witness further said that there were three organizations in the States—the White Brotherhood, the Constitutional Union Guard, and the Invisible Empire.
One was political, to carry the State for the Democrats; another had for its object to reinstate the Confederacy, to restore the Lost Cause; and the third was one which was organized for the purpose of committing murder. The first two were not dangerous, he said, but the last was. If a negro, as he expressed it, "got too big for his breeches," or a Republican was too active, this Order would decree his death in the county where he lived, and would then send to some other county, to a like organization, who would furnish the executioner to commit the murder.

As to the discrimination in the courts, the witness said that if negroes were arrested for larceny they were always convicted much more certainly than a white man. In order to make himself more plainly understood on this point, he gave the following illustration: A colored woman was working in a barn husking corn. She was at night making a good deal of money, and the white man in charge of the farm came along and told her to make less noise and she would get along faster with her work. She answered back rather impudently for a negro. The man then replied with insulting language, and the woman retorted in the same fashion. Thereupon he seized a bludgeon and beat her on the shoulders with it until the stick dropped from his hands. He then took his pistol and hammered her over the head with it, the woman all the time defending herself as best she could by scratching him. They were both arrested and the colored woman was convicted and the white man acquitted.

When questioned as to the elections in North Carolina, Badger said that the colored men were swindled out of their votes.
For instance, he said that when Vance was elected he got 27,000 more votes than there were Democrats in the State.

THE PRIMARIES.

The Indications Are that Grant Men Will Control the New York Convention.

New York, Feb. 18.—The Grant men have carried the Republican primaries on Staten Island for the State Convention by an overwhelming vote. This will probably prevent George William Curtis' election as a delegate.

New York, Feb. 17.—On Friday the Republicans of this city will hold their primaries to elect delegates to the Union convention. In meetings preparing for the primaries, resolutions are being adopted favoring unpledged and uncommitted delegates to the convention. It is noticed, however, that there is a very large Grant sentiment. In the Ninth District the ticket to be voted for is said to be unanimously in favor of Grant.

GRAND ROYAL ARCH.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 18.—The Grand Chapter of the Royal Arch Masons to-day elected Fred Ring, Jr. of LaCrosse, High Priest; Carlos P. Whitford, Beloit, Deputy High Priest; Homer S. Goss, Portage, King; Levi F. Martin, Chippewa Falls, Scribe; David H. Wright, Madison, Treasurer;
John W. Woodhull, Milwaukee, Secretary; the Rev. William E. Wright, Waupun, Chaplain; John W. Ladin, Oshkosh, Captain of the Host; Isaac M. Bennett, Evansville, Principal Solemnizer; George H. Keyes, Menasha, Royal Arch Captain; George S. Anthony, Darlington, M. 31 V.; L. F. Vilas, Prairie DuChien, M. 21 V.; David S. Dewey, Berlin, M. 1st V.; Leonard Barrett, Milwaukee, Tyler; A. V. H. Carpenter, Trustee for three years; M. L. Young, Milwaukee, Lecturer. The officers were formally installed this evening.

TO BE HANGED.

DEADWOOD, D. T., Feb. 18.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Mary E. Houghton, who has been on trial the past five days, charged with complicity in the murder of Mrs.
Minnie E. Callison, August 19, 1878, returned a verdict of not guilty to-day.
Martin L. Cook, convicted of the crime, was rescheduled to be hanged April 16 next.

SHOT DEAD.

Oconomowoc, Feb. 18.—Private dispatches from New Orleans report the shooting of Mearti A. Harger in one of the saloons of that city during a melee.
No particulars of the affair are given more than that he was shot and instantly killed.
Harger was about 20 years old, and was the son of Asahel D. Harger, a well known journalist, formerly of Oconomowoc, but latterly of Milwaukee.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Special to the Gazette.

MADISON, Feb. 19.—In the Assembly this morning the State Board of Charities reported relative to the condition of the public property at the Deaf and Dumb Institute at Delevan, claiming it could be more readily used in rebuilding there than elsewhere.

A bill was passed legalizing the use of barbed wire fences.

A long and excited debate, and consequent filibustering lasting over one hour, arose over the bill making county treasurers ineligible to two consecutive terms.
It was finally ordered to a third reading.
Ayes 49, noes 40.

Three lengthy debates and good natured filibustering arose over the joint resolution providing for and amendment to the State Constitution in the matter of suffrage making six months' residence in the State sufficient. A woman suffrage clause was inserted, ayes forty-seven, noes twelve, and the one year clause was restored after which the resolution as amended, was ordered to a third reading.

In the Senate a large number of petitions from all portions of the State, were presented against the increased taxation of life insurance companies.

Senator McFetridge made a minority report of the Committee on State Affairs in favor of Biennial Sessions. Letters were read from governors of several States where such system prevails, highly commending it.

Resolutions of the Wisconsin Dairymen's Association, complaining of high freight rates on butter and cheese, laid on tables, ayes 15, noes 16.

The Democratic mind will be at ease, and the party will be in perfect contentment, when there are no troops to suppress insurrection and riots in the South, and no courts to punish for crimes and misdemeanors.

LOST LANDAU.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 18.—No trace has yet been found of B. Landau, the prominent Hebrew of this city whose disappearance was mentioned last night.
New York detectives are unable to get any clue to his whereabouts. His friends here are using every means to find him. An interview to-day among his business and social friends showed that they all are of the opinion that Mr. Landau has been foully dealt with while in New York.

THE CONSCIENCE FUND.

What it is, When it Was Started, and How it is Swelled.

At irregular intervals, says the Washington Star, a paragraph appears announcing the receipt by the treasury department of a contribution to the "conscience fund." The contributions now-a-days vary from one dollar to between one and two hundred. A few years ago they were much larger. The money comes from all parts of the country; Philadelphia and New York leading in the number of contributions. A member of Congress from New York, when Mr. Brisson was in the treasury, referring to this fact, remarked that it showed conclusively that New York and Pennsylvania were the most religious States in the Union. Mr. Brisson replied that in his opinion it only showed that those two States had done the most stealing. The money which comes in from conscience-stricken people is on account of frauds on the customs, frauds under the old income tax law, or on the revenue. The income tax having been abolished some years ago, contributions on its account are very few now.

The first record of money received by the Government from repentant defrauders was in 1863. When General Spinner was treasurer he kept the account separately, but the practice was discontinued. The money now, as it has been for the greater number of years since 1863, when the contributions began, is turned into the treasury as miscellaneous receipts.
Repeated attempts have been made by members of Congress to secure appropriations to be paid out of the conscience fund. If the money goes into the treasury as miscellaneous receipts it ceases to be a separate fund, and cannot be drawn upon. It is not known how much the conscience money now amounts to. The total amount from December 1, 1863, to June 30, 1874, as given in the treasurer's report for the latter year, was $162,914.
Since then no account of the contributions have been kept. Treasurer Gilliland, however, estimates that the money now foots up $250,000.

The contributions, as a rule, come through the mail with a note saying for what purpose the money is forwarded.
Very frequently a penitential explanation is included. Some of these explanations are very laughable. The ladies contribute over false returns made under the income tax and for having evaded the duties upon articles of dress.

A lady visited this country in 1864 from England. She smuggled in while here a silk dress pattern. A short time ago she found confessing the evasion of custom duties and sending $15 to clear her conscience. She gave the value of the dress, and wanted the balance sent back to her if the duties did not amount to $15. The customs division of the treasury made a computation based upon the duties charged in 1864, and found that the lady owed exactly $7.50. The balance was remitted. Ministers of the gospel are very frequently the medium through which the money is refunded. While administering spiritual consolation, the confession of defrauding the government is made, and a restitution follows. The clergy transmit the money without mentioning names.

The largest amount ever received as one contribution was $15,000 in United States 7-30 notes. This contribution was announced in the newspapers. Many ingenious attempts were made to get this money out of the treasury. One man said that his father had made the contribution, and that he was crazy. The contributor of it had carefully cut the numbers of the notes so as to make it impossible to discover from the books who had sent them.

Dear Sirs—I find the "Constitution eases for which it is recommended. I have used considerable of it in my practice with entire success. I have on hand a case of enlarged prostate gland, with irritability of the neck and bladder, which I cannot relieve with anything as well as Constitu-dozen bottles by express, C. O. D., as soon

A LONG PRAYER.

How a Session of the Virginia Convention of 1860 Was Opened.

From the Charlottesville, Va., Chronicle.

We find the following in a Kentucky paper without credit and do not know where it originated. As Governor Leitch is given as authority for the facts stated, we presume there is foundation for the anecdote, which will be read with interest by everybody who remembers Mr. Southall.

"Governor Leitch the other day gave an anecdote on the convention of 1860 that must go into print. When Mr. Janney, the president of the convention, was absent, Mr. Valentine Southall, of Abbeville, was always put in the chair. He was indelibly thin and irritable. Janney had been indisposed for a week, and the Charlottesville-lycospic president. During this time there was no opening the session with prayer. Several delegates complained of the omission. Southall said sharply that it was not his duty to hunt up preachers; that was the business of the sergeant-at-arms. This officer was Nat. Thompson, of Hanover, a character. Nat defended himself by alleging that Mr. Janney always attended to getting up preachers, but if Mr. Southall thought that the sergeant-at-arms ought to have a preacher on hand, he would try to get one. Nat strolled down Main street in search of a certain 'parson,' an old acquaintance of Nat. The preacher was off duty and was 'serving tables' by some secular pursuit in Richmond. He was of the hard shell persuasion. Nat found him and told him of the need of a man like him to lead the prayer at the convention next day. The minister was tickled at the request but hinted that his Sunday suit was rather rusty. Nat consented to loan him the proper garments. The hard shell was at Nat's room the next morning, and was duly arrayed in clerical clothes. The two started for the capitol. Nat remarked on the route that the convention had been without any devotion for a week, and it was expected that the lost devotion should be made up that morning. The hard shell brother, even in his shortest invocations, never could reach under a half hour, and this suggestion of the sergeant fell in with the inclination of the elderly, and, as he loved to see himself, 'wrestling Jacob,' Mr. Southall's gavel tapped to order exactly at 11. As soon as the parson had struck the regular note, and was beginning to wield his sentences with 'err,' Nat, quietly slipped from the hall, locked the door, and went down to Zettell's for a lunch. He spent an hour at the restaurant, and, slowly returning to the capitol, and finding the hard shell in full swing, he went down to Bockett's and dined with Dick Harkins, sauntered back about 2 o'clock, and still had a quarter of an hour to suit himself on the capitol steps before the swelling tones of the parson began to taper to the lower key of the conclusion. Nat, unbolted the door as the prayer ended. It had lasted three hours and a quarter. The convention was far from a devotional frame of mind when the regular business began. Mr. Southall never insisted upon that sergeant-at-arms furnishing ministers any more."

—There seems to be some doubt about McKee Rankin coming to Janesville. It will be a disappointment to many if he concludes not to come.

—Patrick Collins, of the Fourth ward, met with an accident yesterday, while trying to manage a horse, which was frightened by the cars. In the struggle Collins suffered a dislocation of the shoulder.

—Those who regretted so much that they did not hear Remenyi, the great violinist, the last time he visited Janesville, will have another chance next Wednesday night at the Congregational church. The concert will be a treat.

—Walter Helms has just purchased two clarionets, one a Bb and the other an A. They are as fine as set as ever seen in this part of the country, and cost about $150. They are of the Buffet make, Paris, and are on the Boehm principle. For tone, beauty of finish, and convenience of fingering, they are the best made, and they have come into the hands of one who knows well how to use them.

—W. H. H. Macdon, of Janesville, who was dismissed from the mail service last March, a short time since preferred charges against two clerks who are now running on the C. & N. W. R., stating that in 1877 they drew five months pay for which they did no work. He made an affidavit before a Justice of the Peace, and sent it to P. M. General Key, who investigated the matter and found from the records of the Chicago and Fort Howard Post Offices that Mr. man was a first class blunderer.—Oshkosh Standard.

—The trial of James Fitzgibbon was held at Jefferson yesterday. The girl who made the charge against the Alderman fixed the 29th of January 1879 as the day on which the criminal intimacy occurred, and the accused brought forward testimony to prove that it could not have been. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, and another act of the drama is thus ended. A motion for a new trial, an appeal, and all sorts of other moves are expected on the part of the accused before he will submit to such a finding.

—One of Janesville's fair ladies has in her employ a faithful, honest-hearted Irish girl in whom she places all confidence, and with whom she has had no trouble until the other day, when the girl in straightening up the lady's room, found pinned upon a cushion on the dressing case, a slip of paper, bearing some words hastily written. She glanced at it, and read thereon "paddy fingers steal." Maybe that honest Irish heart didn't boil over with wrath at this insinuation. She shouldered her feather duster, and took up a quick step for the sitting room, and there found her mind to the lady of the house. She would hear no explanations, she wouldn't stay in a house where they thought she was a thief, she was an honest girl she was, and she never, no never, in all her life, so help her—and the girl gushed out her further indignation in tears. The lady was perfectly bewildered, and knew not what the girl was so grieved about, until she spied the bit of paper, clutched in her hand, and taking it, saw thereon the memorandum which she had written the night before, and fastened to her pin cushion so that she would not forget it in the morning. It was only some things which she wanted her husband to send up to the house, and to her eyes read—"lady fingers steal." It was a full quarter of an hour before the girl could be persuaded that the hastily written letters didn't read "paddy fingers steal," but at last she was happily convinced, and peace was restored.

FRUITS AND FLOWERS.

The Janesville Horticultural Society met last evening. The attendance was rather light, for various reasons, and little was done beyond a discussion of business, and making arrangements for future meetings. It was decided to have the Society meet one week from Saturday night in Dimock & Hayner's office, at which time there will be a discussion of various matters in connection with fruit and flowers. All members are requested to be present, and an invitation is extended to all who are in any way interested in horticulture to be present.

TROUBLE AND LAUDANUM.

A Sweet Sixteen Seeks to 'Stop Life By the Aid of Poison, But Don't Succeed.

Last evening a young girl named Edith Dodge, and aged only sixteen, attempted to end her life by taking laudanum. It appears that she has for some years been living with a maiden aunt, Miss Belle Denton, who works in the Jettison factory. About last Christmas she left her aunt's and came to Mrs. A. A. Dresser's, and told her that she had been so abused that she would not live any longer with her aunt, and was bound to get some place to work, and wanted to stay there till she could find a chance. Mrs. Dresser went over to see Miss Denton, and made arrangements with her to keep the girl for a time. She tried to get her some place to work, and failing in this concluded to keep her herself, and pay her $1 a week.

This arrangement has been kept up until last night when the girl slipped out of the house, and went to Mrs. Strow's house, which is in the same yard as her aunt's house. Before going there she told another young girl that she was going to run away from Mrs. Dresser's and go to Mr. Strow's, and if they would not keep her, she was going to take laudanum, she having in her hand at the time a bottle, which she had taken from Mrs. Dresser's pantry. Mrs. Dresser being informed of this followed the girl over to Mrs. Strow's and before reaching there, called upon the girl's aunt, and had her go with her. When Mrs. Dresser entered she found the girl in the bedroom, with two or three others, and a war of words began. The girl commenced to beg them not to let Mrs. Dresser take her back, and began accusing her of being harsh and cruel to her. Mrs. Dresser denied this and told Strow's folks some things which the girl had said about them. The girl became quite angry, and after charging Mrs. Dresser with various offenses, wound up by calling her a liar. Mrs. Dresser could not stand this and slapped the girl. At this she cried out "There, you see how they abuse me."

Mrs. Dresser asked her if she had ever struck her before, but the girl made no answer, and immediately afterward she took the bottle of laudanum which she had concealed in her hand, and putting it to her lips began drinking it. It was taken from her, and Dr. Sutherland was called for, who prevented any ill effect from the poison, by giving her an emetic, and the usual antidotes.

The girl stated the cause of the attempt as being the abuse she had received from her aunt, but her aunt denies that she has ever abused her, and others also say that the aunt has used her very kindly, having kept her at school, paid her for music lessons for Mrs. Corryell, clothed her well, and made her as pleasant a home as possible. Her aunt and Mrs. Dresser say that the girl is headstrong and saucy, and that the real cause of all trouble is that she was desperately in love with Mr. Strow's son, a boy two or three years younger even than she, and that she was too fond of writing letters, sending pictures, and making appointments, which her aunt and Mrs. Dresser deemed indiscreet and for which they rebuked her. Her aunt says she would not let the girl go over to Strow's and that this was the reason she ran away and went to Mrs. Dresser's. Mrs. Dresser says she has tried to check the girl, and thinks this is the cause of all the trouble. Both deny all abuse.

The girl is to-day at Mrs. Strow's and insists on staying there. Her step-father, who lives at Flint, Mich., has been telegraphed to, and the maiden aunt threatens to commence proceedings if necessary to recover the custody of the girl again, as she does not appear to be any too friendly toward her neighbors, and objects of course to letting the girl remain with them. The statements of different parties are so conflicting, that it is evident there is much ill feeling at the bottom of the affair, as well perhaps as a tinge of girlish romance.

To-day several citizens who have given credence to the girl's side of the story, and believe her to be abused have offered her places in their houses, and there will probably be no difficulty in her securing some shelter outside her aunt's house, with whom she seems determined not to live longer.

Imagine the feelings of a poor woman, who for seventeen years has been bedridden from rheumatism, and suddenly finds herself able to walk. Such was the experience of a lady in Waseca, Minn., of whom Rev. F. W. Buchholz reports that, after using the ST. JACOB'S OIL, for three days, she was able to get up and walk.

THE APRON SALE.

There was a large and happy gathering at Cannon's hall last evening at the apron sale and supper given by the ladies of the Congregational church. There were all sorts of aprons awaiting buyers, big and little, elaborate and plain, and all so attractive that they did not await buyers long, but met with a very ready sale, and had there been a larger supply it too would have been sold, without trouble. There were holders and other little household conveniences which were also sold readily. Then there was plenty to eat, and served up temptingly, the coffee being excellent, and a happy exception to the general rule governing church socials, oysters served in all forms, and other edibles equally reliable.

The friends there assembled sat about in groups chatting and enjoying themselves evidently, while others were patronizing the sales and the tables, and occasionally music was thrown in to break up the monotony, and add enjoyability to the occasion. Mrs. Jones presided at the organ, and the choir furnished several songs. A quartet consisting of D. D. Wilson, John Wingate, Charlie Wingate, and Homer Rice also gave some good music. The affair was a happy one throughout and thoroughly enjoyable, and financially it was a great success, the ladies clearing over $100, which will be added to the fund for completing the new chapel.

There is no church in the city, the ladies of which are more diligent and earnest in church enterprises than the Congregational. They have had the building of the chapel in their own hands, and have worked most successfully and creditably to gain its building and completion, and as financial managers they deserve much credit. They do not seem to weary in well doing, and they merit all the success which they have gained.

Swallowing POISON!

Spurs of disgusting mucus from the nostrils or upon the tongue, Watery Eyes, Rheum, Biting in the Ears, Deafness, Obstruction in the Head, Intermittent Pains over the Eyes, Faced Breaths, Nasal Discharge, Scabs in the Nostrils, and Tickling in the Throat are

SIGNS OF CATARRH.

No other such loathsome, treacherous and undermining malady grows mankind. One-fifth of our children die of diseases generated by its infectious Poison, and one-fourth of living men and women drag out miserable existences from the same cause. While asleep, the impurities in the nostrils are necessarily swallowed into the stomach, and inhaled into the lungs to poison every part of the system.

Dr. W. D. Meyer's Catarrh Cure absorbs the purulent virus and kills the seeds of poison in the furthest parts of the system. It will not only relieve, but certainly cure Catarrh at a y stage. It is the only remedy which in our judgment, has ever yet really cured a case of Chronic Catarrh.

Cured! Cured! Cured! Cured! G. G. PRESBURY, Prop. West End Hotel, Long Beach, Cal., cured of 20 years Chronic Catarrh. S. BARNETT, Jeweler, 67 Broadway, N. Y., (month of Jan'y) Cured of Chronic Catarrh. E. H. SNOW, 330 Canal St., N. Y., Cured of 11 years Chronic Catarrh. J. D. McONALD, 710 Broadway, N. Y., (Sister-in-Law) Cured of 40 years Chronic Catarrh. Mrs. JOHN DOUGHERTY, Fishkill, N. Y., Cured of 8 years Chronic Catarrh. Mrs. JACOB SWARTZ, Jr., 300 Warren St., Jersey City, Cured of 18 years Chronic Catarrh. A. B. THORN, 183 Montague St., Brooklyn, [self and son] Cured of Catarrh. Rev. Wm. LUTHER, Fordham, N. Y., Cured of 30 years Chronic Catarrh. MRS. ANNE, Opera Prima Donna, "I have received very great benefit from it."

A. McONALD, R. B. PRESBY, 31 West 4th St., N. Y.: "My family experienced immediate relief."

Dr. W. D. Meyer's Catarrh Cure is the most important medical discovery since vaccination. It is sold by all Druggists, or delivered by D. D. Meyer, & Co., 40 West 4th St., N. Y. $1.50 a package. 50 clubs, six packages for $7.50. Dr. W. D. Meyer's Treatise is sent free to anybody.

SPURTS of disgusting Mucus, Snuffles, Crackling Pains in the Head, Fetid Breath, Deafness, and any Catarrhal Complaint, can be exterminated by W. D. Meyer's Catarrh Cure, a Constitutional Antidote by Absorption. The most important Discovery since Vaccination.
